Visit from 'Eagle'

Great sailing ships will always excite the imagination of man. Thousands of people thronged to visit the bark "Eagle" in New Bedford this weekend. The 295-foot bark rigged ship originally was christened "Horst Wessel" in honor of one of Hitler's early lieutenants. She was built by Blehm & Voxx Shipyard, Hamburg, Germany. The Portuguese training ship "Sagres II" was built as a sister ship of the "Eagle" and was one of three German training vessels for naval cadets. The United States acquired the ship in 1946 as a war reparation. She was commissioned as a Coast Guard ship and named "Eagle" after a long line of famous United States Revenue Cutters.

First and third year cadets are now embarked on a 7-week cruise visiting several ports along the eastern coast.

Sunday the "Eagle" was saluted by other sailing ships of the eastern coast in a sail-by. Graceful craft such as "Tabor Boy" and "Shenandoah" sailed by and tacked off the "Eagle's" bow. Not for years has the once great sailing port of New Bedford seen so many vessels maneuver under sail in the inner harbor. The sight was witnessed by the hundreds of visitors lining the starboard rail of the "Eagle". So great was the weight of this throng of people that the Eagle heeled visibly.

It is safe to say that a large segment of the population of this area were among the visitors to the Eagle during her stay in New Bedford. Like the "Sagres II" the "Eagle" was admired for her grace and beauty. This splendid machine, drawing her motive power from nature, becomes a natural element and, as such, is a beautiful living thing. What engine driven ship could inspire such interest?

Twenty-three hundred square feet of white canvas is unfurled to the wind to take on the classic, geometric shape of flight as the "Eagle" cleaves the waves. There is no lovelier sight on the surface of the sea.

The racing resumed at 1:30 P.M. and four races were completed during the afternoon in continued ideal weather. Eleven participating clubs were represented and there was keen competition visible for the coveted championship. After the races were finished and the scores tallied using the high point system, Commodore Charles Crowley presented the awards to the winners.

The Championship was won by Judy Fenner of Hyannis Yacht Club with Dianna Baxter as crew. Her score was 62 3/4 points. Sue McGowan, representing Mattapoisett Yacht Club, was in second place with 51 1/4 points. Her crew was Jane Miller. 'Living History' Visits Past

Mr. Charles S. Mendell, tour guide; Mr. Girard Oliva, teacher; and students Laura Hopkins, Billy Harris and Tracey Bigham

Following is the students' account of the tour.

HISTORICAL TOUR OF MATTAPOISETT

Members of the Living History Class of Old Rochester Regional Junior High School toured the historical sites of Mattapoisett under the direction of Mr. Charles Mendell, who is from the Mattapoisett Historical Society.

On our first stop, at the Herring Weir, Mr. Mendell explained to Mr. Oliva's news team, that this was the site of the original center of the town. It was built there because of the need for water power to run the grist mills, and to grow food for the settlers. They also needed the smaller, sheltered harbor because they all had small boats.

We then visited the Hammondtown Cemetery which was started in 1680. During these times many deaths occured in infancy. The causes of these deaths were many: T.B., mumps, pneumonia and a disease called "September Disease", which was caused by the souring of milk and a resulting high bacteria count. Mr. Mendell explained that chances were that if a child lived through the first year, he probably would live to a

We next visited the Town Wharf which became the center of the famous Mattapoisett shipbuilding and whaling industry. Mr. Mendell described the area and explained that there were ten separate shipbuilders located there at the height of the industry. Mr. Mendell also stated that many famous ships of the era were built in Mattapoisett.

Our last stop was at the Historical Museum and the Carriage House. All the old styles of living in that time were displayed.

There were old stoves, irons, and even an old fire engine that was in use in the early 1800's. Upstairs, there were old dolls and some very old documents. Altogether, Mr. Mendell gave a very impressive tour and made us all more aware of the economic and historical significance of old Mattapoisett.

Public interest in Cable TV, if indicated by attendance or lack of same, appears to be less than enthusiastic. No member of the general public appeared at the Cable TV hearing in Mattapoisett last Tuesday. a license. After discussion, Selectmen decided to initiate a Community Antenna Television License. After the hearing, the Board of Selectmen appointed a Cable TV Advisory Committee: Raymond E. Dextraze, chairman, and members Berthold Putman, Emily A. Hickey, Margaret B. Smith, Paul M. Kelley, Jr. and Michael Renzi. After being appointed, this committee met and recommended that Mattapoisett work with other neighboring towns in working out the licensing details and possible requirements for the applicants. There are 5 towns involved. Even though the preliminary work would be a joint effort there would still be 5 individual contracts with the Cable TV license recipient. It is estimated that subscribers to the Cable TV service might be charged a fee of about $5.50 per month.

Fair Day in Marion!

Saturday will be Fair day in Marion - community-wise and, hopefully, weather-wise. The First Congregational Church, which has been sponsoring a Summer Fair for nobody remembers how long, will again take over the village center for the day-long event.

The first phase of the annual undertaking, a public auction, was held July 14 and drew a large and enthusiastic crowd to Barden's Boat Yard on Island Wharf. Many stayed through from the opening at 10 A.M. until the last items went up for bids at 4 P.M., as hundreds of donated articles from boats to Indian head pennies changed hands.

Since then, committees involving about 100 workers, have concentrated on the Fair, which will open at 10 A.M. July 28th, with attractions for all ages and tastes. On the church grounds the sewing tables will display aprons, fancy work, children's clothing, stuffed animals and kindred items of the needle and thread art.

The food tables will offer the tastiest viands from Congregational kitchens. Fresh vegetables and flowers will be sold from the

Eliminate Mosquitoes - -

WHAT'S BEEN DONE, WHAT IS BEING DONE AND WHAT CAN BE DONE?

The Mosquito Control Program in Mattapoisett has been in effect for this season since the 1st of May. Flit MLO was applied by copter on the large swampy areas. Areas of stagnant water, small swampy areas and catch basins are being treated by the Mosquito Control Inspector by means of a back spray. These areas are treated routinely and in addition the Inspector is responding to specific requests from residents who have problem areas on or nearby their property. These efforts are designed to attack the larvae in the breeding spots.

During the second week of June, Pyrocide was applied throughout the town as a fog in an effort to eliminate the adult mosquito population. This was done on a limited scale last season (particularly in beach areas) and the residents in the areas treated found it to be effective for an extended period of time. This treatment will be repeated later in the season if residents find it to be beneficial. Pyrocide is a product derived from chrysanthemums and breaks down rapidly and poses no hazard to birds, fish, etc.

The Committee urges residents who have specific problems to call 758-3758. Only with the help of the townspeople can the Committee more effectively operate. In conjunction to reporting trouble spots, there are many things residents can do for themselves (and their neighbors).

-- Check your property thoroughly for breeding spots.

-- Eliminate anything that can contain water and become stagnant (tin cans, old tires, hollow tree stumps, etc.).

-- Keep bird baths clean and filled with fresh water.

-- Make sure downspouts and gutters are clean and allow the free flow of water.

-- Fill low lying areas or holes which fill with water.

ONLY WITH THE COOPERATION OF ALL CAN MOSQUITOES BE CONTROLLED to a point where they are not a nuisance or a threat to the health of humans and animals.

Call 758-3758 to let the Committee know of your problems and suggestions. We will do everything we can possibly do to keep Mattapoisett a special, pleasant and comfortable place in which to enjoy our all-too-short summer.

MUSEUM IN NEW YORK
SHOWS GIFT OF LOCAL DONOR

A charming Quaker doll in street attire of the 1850's stands proudly in her own glass case, featured in the current Bulletin of "The Museum of the City of New York". The Curator of Toys, John Noble, who has written several books on Dolls, reports that she is drawing much interest and favorable comment.

This little lady in moss green taffeta, complete with bonnet and shawl, was the recent gift of Miss Lydia LeBaron Walker of Mattapoisett. The doll was dressed by the donor's grandmother, the late Sarah A. Holmes, of New Bedford and Mattapoisett, in the pieces of the wedding gown worn for her first marriage to Abraham Moses Underhill of New York. The bride herself was Philadelphia-born Sarah Ann Ogborn. Widowed in the early 1860's, she later married the Josiah Holmes Jr of Mattapoisett and The Holmes Shipyard.

Among Miss Walker's other gifts were the wedding gown itself, original to the first marriage, and a telegram of congratulation, Western Union No. 555 addressed to 17 East 23rd Street, wishing happiness to the newly united Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Holmes, Jr. The telegram signed "Charles" was from the Charles T. Harvey who invented and built the New York Elevated Railroad, and so of double interest.

The title "The Elizabeth Fry of America" had been accorded Sarah Underhill by reason of her many charities to the prisoners in "The Tombs", "Sing Sing" and at "Blackwells Island". As Mrs. Holmes, she lived for many years at the home she had purchased at 64 Russell Street,

Miss Walker was returning to the scene of her own youth, in making donations to New York historical societies and museums; also to the Frick Art Reference Library where she added to the documentation of her sister, the late Mary Evengeline Walker's career in portraiture, supplying photographs of the privately owned portraits of distinguished persons.

Miss Walker had no idea that the doll she presented was to made Toy of the Month, until the current Bulletin of the Museum of the City of New York arrived, accompanied by a delightful letter praising the doll, from the Curator of Toys, Mr. John Noble, who is also editor of The Bulletin.

Her remark is that it is a very warm feeling to have one's small treasure given such high status in such a high place. Miss Walker's hostess for the spring visit was Mrs. Christina P. King of New York and Mattapoisett.

Letter to the Editor

A report in a newspaper states that the U. S. Air Force plans to have cut the cartilage on the vocal chords of 200 Beagle puppies, and then expose them - not to poison gases or chemical or biological warfare agents, merely to test the effects of fumes from fire extinguishers, fumes from freezone, fumes from propellants, fumes of carbon monoxide and hydrogen cyanides given off by burning plastics in aircraft fires. The testing will be low level and long term in duration. Most of the puppies are not expected to die - those affected will be humanely destroyed, the rest will happily go on, available for other test programs.

Rutgers University College of Agriculture and Environmental Sciences stated that in 1971 approximately 500,000 dogs were used in laboratory research in the U. S.

Also in 1971, laboratories used 45 million rodents, 700,000 rabbits, 200,000 cats, 85,283 primates, 46,624 swine, 22,961 sheep, 1,724,279 birds, 15 to 20 million frogs, 190,415 turtles, 61,176 snakes and 51,005 lizards.

It would seem that those who feel that this type of thing is necessary to their well being could bring more intelligence into play with fewer highly qualified laboratories under strict programs, etc.

Certainly 64,581,743 tortured mutilated things from dogs and cats down to rodents, over 64 million a year, leaves room for some improvement somewhere along the line.

For instance, the part of the test on the dogs for effects of carbon monoxide and hydrogen cyanide fumes given off by burning plastics in aircraft fires, just in that one item, throw out the plastics that will burn and put in some nonburning substitute and put the effort on the positive side and save the dogs.

NATIONAL SCOUT JAMBOREE

"Jamboree or Bust!" is the cheer that Moby Dick Scouts will give as they head for the world's largest Scout Jamboree the first week in August.

Troop 2451, sponsored by the Moby Dick Council, will attend Jamboree East at Moraine State Park, Pennsylvania. Thirty-seven Scouts and 3 leaders will make the trip leaving here August 1st and returning the 10th. Their Scoutmaster is Mr. Frank Jason of New Bedford.

More than 70,000 Scouts and leaders are expected at the jamboree. This is the first time that a national jamboree has been held at two different locations. And, for the first time, any registered Scout can go --- with with no age or advancement requirements.

At the jamboree, the Scouts will live in a huge tent city and cook their own meals, including mountain trout and steak.
